Parters Crime
I urgently need a few days off work but know my boss won’t allow me to take leave. I decide maybe if I act crazy he’ll tell me to take a few days off. So I hang upside down on the ceiling. My co-worker asks me what I’m doing. I tell her I’m pretending to be a light bulb so the boss might think I’m crazy and give me a few days off to rest.

A few minutes later the boss comes into de office and baffled, asks “what on earth do you think you are doing” I tell him I’、“I’m a light bulb. He says “you are clearly stressed out. I decide maybe if I act crazy he’ll tell me to take a few days off to rest. I jump down and walk out of the office. Seeing my co-worker turn and follow me, the boss says to her “and where do you think you are going?” “I’m going home to” she says. “I can’t work in the dark”.
